Cut and Paste Document Summarization System

Automated Cut and Paste for Document Summarization

The method and system for generating a summary comprises of the extraction module for a sentence related to the focus of the document. A summary sentence generation module is operatively coupled to the extraction module. A grammatical parser coupled to the generation module parses the extracted sentences into components in a grammatical representation.

Summary of Documents Created Automatically

The system and method generate a readable and concise summary of documents that is concise, coherent and accurate.

Inventors

Kathleen McKeown